2025

Earthx2025 returns to Dallas, Texas with a 5-day premiere forum convening a diverse group of leaders to engage and advance the latest sustainability solutions.

Each day of the event focuses on a specific topic including The Future of Energy (Monday-Tuesday), The Circular Economy (Tuesday-Wednesday), Brave New Oceans (Thursday) and "New Perspectives on Texas Conservation" on Wednesday, April 23rd.

Rapid development is causing Texas to lose about 20 football fields of open space per hour. Not only does this severely challenge the states' rich natural habitats and biodiversity, but it places a strain on resource conservation, especially water, that urban Texans rely on. "New Perspectives on Texas Conservation" will look at the costs of the loss of Texas' wild and open spaces and identify collaborative solutions that can help establish Texas a model for conservation best practices nationwide. The conservation conference will feature two sessions including, "The State of Texas Water" and "Passing the Torch: What Are the Pressing Challenges and Opportunities for The Next Generation of Conservation Leaders? A collaborative discussion between distinguished figures in global conservation new visionaries"

The question so many people ask is, "how is EarthX 2025 different from other environmentally focused events?"

EarthX 2025 sets itself apart from other environmentally focused events through its commitment to inclusivity and collaboration across diverse sectors and ideologies. Unlike many conferences that cater to specific industries or political agendas, EarthX 2025 emphasizes a cross-disciplinary approach. By bringing together participants from energy, finance, technology, and policy, attendees benefit from a rich tapestry of perspectives aimed at finding comprehensive environmental solutions. The event is designed to facilitate meaningful connections fostering opportunities for engagement that could lead to impactful collaborations.

Free events that are open to the public will be held during the event. Go to EarthX.org for more information.

Whole Earth is a family owned, homegrown Texas original with six stores in four cities: Austin, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. Whether you've been a birdwatcher for years or just starting out, get ready for fun! Try to find all the birds on your card, and you'll make some great memories visiting different habitats and adding new birds to your life list, not to mention a chance to win an awesome prize. Birdwatching is more than ticking off names from a list. Birds are our neighbors, and it can be entertaining watching them as they go about their daily lives.

A good pair of binoculars lets us take a closer look. Whole Earth offers a range of binoculars from a child's first to high quality pairs from Nocs, Celestron and Nikon. We can help you find the pair that's right for you. When deciding on a pair of binoculars, consider the two numbers that describe them, such as 8x25, referring to the magnification factor (8) and the diameter of the main lenses in millimeters (25). Generally, a lower magnification factor provides a wider field of view and will allow the user to track motion like birds moving from tree to tree, while a higher magnification will provide more detail. Another consideration is weight. How much is comfortable around your neck or in a pack?

Be sure to check out Cornell Lab's site and apps. They can help with identification and answers to FAQs. Enjoy exploring and playing Texas Bird Bingo!

Explore The World Of Birds Through Aransas Pathways

The Texas coast offers some of the best birding in the country, especially during spring migration. Each year, thousands of small colorful birds pass through the large twisting oaks of Rockport-Fulton, where they can refuel on insects, berries, and seeds before continuing their journey north. Dotted throughout the city are Aransas Pathways sites, small but important natural areas where locals and visitors alike can witness these beautiful birds on display while they forage, fly, and preen. Not only do Pathways sites provide vegetative shelter and structure the birds need to survive and thrive, these sites also allow people the chance to hike peaceful trails, rest on strategic benches, and set up photo blinds near water drip features that attract the birds. Explore accessible sites like serene wetlands, coastal prairies, and shaded woodlands, each with unique viewing experiences. Whether observing resident shorebirds, migrating warblers, or our renowned winter visitors, including the celebrated hummingbirds, Aransas County's rich ecosystem promises endless discoveries for birders of all levels. Join us and see why this is a favorite destination for birds—and birders alike.

Discover the remarkable wonders of wildlife and nature by exploring scenic hiking and biking trails, diverse birdwatching locations, and picturesque kayaking spots along the coast. Immerse yourself in the captivating stories, photographs, and rich history of Aransas County. We offer a delightful array of activities suitable for all ages! Whether you're interested in birdwatching, hiking, biking, delving into historical exhibits, kayaking, capturing breathtaking photos, fishing, enjoying beautiful sunsets, exploring nature, or observing wildlife, there's something here for everyone to enjoy!

Additionally, we host numerous events throughout the year, so be sure to keep an eye on our website and Facebook page for updates. What will you encounter when you visit a Pathways site?
